FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

HOW CONTAGION IS SPREAD.

Health officials have found that more contagion is spread from children than from those who are known to be sick. In cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria this is often true. The patient may appear to be well, but the germs are still present and it is therefore dangerous for him to mingle with children that are really well.

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

PURPOSE OF EXERCISE.

Exercise should be taken to increase the circulation and tissue change; to stimulate the elimination of waste products; to develop the muscles; to promote healthy action of the digestive organs, and to clear the brain and head, thus fitting us to do more work and better work than we would otherwise be able to perform.

The Presbyterian Church Sunday School has established a branch school at the district school building at Bartle's Mill. The attendance has steadily improved since organization and the prospects are bright for a good work being done there in the future. Miss Link, who is working under the auspices of the Soul Winner Society, is on the ground and will have special oversight of the school.

A MOUNTAIN TRIP

Mrs. Chas. E. Woodcock, wife of Bishop Woodcock of the Episcopal church of Kentucky in company with Mrs. R. P. Hallock, Miss Myra Baird, Mrs. Mason Maury and Mrs. Cain, all of Louisville, were registered at the Imperial Hotel Monday. These ladies are on a sight seeing trip to the mountains of Kentucky. They left Tuesday for Hindman and other points in the back-woods to study our trees, land scapes and birds. They expect to remain in the mountains for about two weeks. W. F. Gayheart, from Hindman, is their guide and will pilot them on a safe journey.

A BUSY DAY

Once a farmer had 1,800 bushels of wheat, which he sold, not to a single grain merchant, but 1,800 different dealers, a bushel each. A few of them paid in cash, but for the greater number said it was not convenient; they would pay later. A few months passed, and the man's bank account ran low. "How is that?" he said. My 1,800 bushels of wheat should have kept me in affluence until another crop is raised, but I have parted with the grain and have instead only a vast number of accounts, so small and so scattered that I cannot get around and collect fast enough to pay expenses. So he started up a public notice and asked all those who owed him to pay quickly. But few came. The next day, "Mine is on a roll matter, and I will go and get some of these days," he said. "I forgot that, though each account was very small, when all were put together they meant a large sum to the man." Things went on thus. The man got to feeling so bad that he fell out of bed and awoke, finding in his granary, found his 1,800 bushels of wheat still safe there. He had only been dreaming. Moral.—The next day the man went to the publisher of his paper and said, "Here, sir, is the pay for your paper, and when next year's subscription is due, you can depend on me to pay promptly." I stood in a position of an editor last night and I know how he feels to have one's honest earned money scattered all over the country in small amounts. —Traded News, Traf-ford City, Pa.

W. D. Hamilton, the popular Grocer, went to Lexington Thursday to take the Civil Service examination which will be held there Thursday and which there will lay in a fresh supply of groceries.

OLD MAN GIDDLES OBSERVES.

SOME men never will learn anything, and other men never will forget anything. While you are telling a hard-luck story good luck is trying to whisper in your ear.

Elm Timms says that when he sees a young man acting silly he says: "We are only young once," and then thanks heaven for that.

A bald-headed man will swear at all hair restorers, but a man with false teeth can be induced to give a testimonial for dental powder any time.

Most sympathy for our misfortunes has an undercurrent of "you might have known better" in it.

Hotels that advertise homelike surroundings too often put the pressure on the expense and make it too homelike.

It is difficult to realize, looking at a big, fat, bald man, that there was a time when his mother sat down and went silently while his father took him to the barber's and had his ringlets cut off.

An orderless onion is promised. Now what will become of the man who is always writing to the paper wanting to know how to remove the odor of onions from his breath?

A woman whose husband has bought a new automobile can switch the conversation to automobiles in two sentences, no matter what topic is up.

The Doll Days. Now that the house is empty, she sits and dreams alone. And back come all the doll-days—the doll-days she has known. Her hair is white as silver, the finger-tips of care.

Have scanned her cheeks with wrinkles—red roses once were there. But now her lips are parted in eager, childlike smiles. For now her heart is throbbing with joys of other whiles.

O, long, long days of gladness that lived from dawn till dusk! The blossom that has withered and left for her the husk. Now wakens at the summons of memory's soft call. And bursts in fragrant blooming—the best days of them all! She dances down the pathway where roses swung and swayed in tune to all the music the singing breezes made.

She hears the shrill-sweet laughter of other little girls. She sees the sunshine glinting upon their golden curls. The red, red blooms of clover drip honey after rain. While she, with bonnet swinging, runs swiftly down the lane. Or now the olden portraits stare at her from the walls. While she with thread and needle makes dresses for her dolls.

Old? Yes, full four score winters have left their drift of snow Upon her head, but in her heart the sun of long ago. Still glows as warm and golden as it did in the days. When she would madly scamper along the blossomed ways. And now the house is silent, and now she dreams alone. Of all the light and laughter of doll-days she has known.

A smile comes all so faintly to hide a tear, mayhap. For now she climbs, a lassie, into her mother's lap. And hears the crooning cadence that oft has soothed to sleep. The beautiful song-treasure that memory will keep. Among the things we cherish—a lullaby that fails. Like a benediction breathed on her day of dolls.

Thwarting Papa. "Young man," said the stern parent, coming into the parlor at ten p. m., "when I was your age and was calling on the young woman who now bears my name, her father would always come downstairs at ten o'clock and remind me of the hour."

"Thank you for the encouragement, sir," politely responds the swain. "What do you mean?"

"Why, your best girl's father came and told you what time it was, and the girl married you, didn't she? I think all I need with your daughter is a little parental support, too."

Gone But Not Forgotten. "Naturally," we say to the fair young widow, "you miss your husband terribly."

"I do," she sighs. "It seems to me at times that I simply cannot get along without him."

"Ah, it is sad," we murmur. "Yes. Since I've put on half mourning and have begun to go out a little, I nearly dislocate my shoulders trying to hook my waist up the back."

HOWE'S GREAT LONDON CIRCUS TO BE HERE

The Times, Stroudsburg, Pa., Aug. 29, 1908.

Howe's Great London Shows visited this town yesterday. The street parade was very pleasing as there were many open cages of lions and tigers that were worth looking at. The performances in the afternoon and evening were the best ever seen here. The trained horses and bareback riding were first class in every role. The rapaze and bar performances and the funny set of clowns were the best that any show ever carried. In fact, it is the cleanest, most refined and up-to-date circus that has exhibited here in several years. Will be in Jackson on Wednesday May 19.

The Press, Asbury Park, Aug. 12, 1909.

Marion Sheridan and her troupe of performing lions proved one of the main attractions. The wonderful control which this pretty little woman exercises over these sovereigns of the forests is something marvelous. The feature that undoubtedly was the most enjoyed by the youngsters was Prof. Buckley's herd of performing elephants including Duchess the largest elephant in the world. These huge beasts did stunts of all descriptions from balancing themselves on barrels to play ring around rosy. Will be in Jackson Wednesday May 19.

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE CONSUMPTION—A HOUSE DISEASE.

Consumption is a house disease. House life, then, whether it be the home or the shop, is the important factor in the propagation and spread of this disease. Important, because in these two places, men and women spend practically both their waking and sleeping hours. Important, again, for the reason that in both the home and the shop are produced and maintained, through ignorance of the simplest rules of health, those conditions that tend to impair physical vigor and at the same time produce the germs of disease and death. These facts should make apparent the importance of making our indoor life, or, rather, the conditions under which we live and work, correspond as nearly as possible with respect to light and air to those prevailing in outdoor life.

Hare Hunting.

Hare hunting is undoubtedly a more antique sport than the chase of the fox. Xenophon pursued it with delight in ancient Greece, and in Britain the hare was for centuries looked upon as a far more worthy quarry than the fox. While, until the time of Queen Elizabeth and even later, was regarded as mere vermin. Nicholas Cox, author of "The Gentleman's Recreation," a work on sport, published in 1677, writes thus enthusiastically: "As of all chase the hare makes the greatest pasture, so it is a great delight and satisfaction to see the craft of this little poor beast in her own self preservation." And it is to be admitted that in those shifts and expedients which afford to lovers of hounds the true delights of hunting the timid hare is at least as fertile as any known beast of chase in any part of the world.—London Saturday Review.

"Did Brown leave a will?" "Yes, indeed. And a wise one too." "Is that so?" "Yes: he left the majority of his property to the lawyers and car fare to his relatives, thereby saving his relatives much needless worry."—Detroit Free Press.

In a rather one sided affair the local team spread the kalsomine on the Stanton team to the tune of 20 to 6 on the local diamond Wednesday before a nice sized crowd of both ladies and gentlemen. Stanton's defeat was due to her weak pitching staff. The local team was not inconvenienced in the least by their twisters and dodgers and had no trouble in straightening out the benders into long drives, while Jackson's twirler, Kinnaird, had the visitors up against it from start to finish. Mr. Kinnaird played splendid ball at every stage and while he did not succeed in fanning many of the foreigners he subdued drivers to a few measly hits.

Details of the game:
Home run—D. Hall. Two-base hits—Atkinson, Mahaffey 2, Combs. Struck out—By Fuller, Howard, W. Lyons. By Kinnaird A. Skidmore. Double plays—Musick to Lyons, Kinnaird to Lyons. Hit by pitcher—By Fuller 1, by Kinnaird 1. Base on balls—Off Fuller 3, off Kinnaird 1. Left on bases—Stanton 11, Jackson 9. Hits—Off Fuller 7, Off Kinnaird 5. Scores—D. Hall 2, Welch 1, Fuller 1, Wills 1, A. Skidmore 1, Kinnaird 3, Mahaffey 3, Musick 4, Combs 3, Howard 2, S. Lyons 1, R. Hadden 2, W. Lyons 0, Thompson 2.

COMMENCEMENT

The Commencement exercises of Lees Collegiate Institute started last Sunday morning with the baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. Cary F. Moore, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Cynthiana, Ky., his subject being, "Strength and Courage for the Untried Way." The services were held in the College Chapel and were very largely attended, all Jackson churches joining in the service. Prayers were made by Rev. R. L. Kinnaird, of the Presbyterian church and Rev. A. N. Morris, of the Baptist church, and the scripture lesson read by Rev. T. B. Cook, of the Methodist church.

On Monday night a large audience enjoyed a Musical Recital given by the pupils of Miss Sadie B. Smith's class, all of whom performed with wonderful credit to themselves and to their talented teacher. After the recital Prof. and Mrs. Leonard received at the Dormitory in honor of the Senior Class. Mrs. C. B. Dickson introduced the guests to the receiving line. Miss Catharine Calk, Miss Mary Agnes Willson and Miss Nettie V. Patterson of the faculty presided at the punch bowl and music was furnished by the Jackson Orchestra.

The Grade Entertainment was given Tuesday evening. The Primary and Intermediate Departments under the management of Miss Sue Leonard and Miss Mary Agnes Willson, gave a four-act play entitled "Alice in Wonderland." "Miss Cherry Blossom Entertains" was the title of a two-act play given by Intermediate and Collegiate pupils under the direction of Miss Catharine Calk. Prof. W. M. Campbell's class of boys gave a very clever sketch, "Education in Politics." The Chapel was crowded with a very enthusiastic audience, the evening proved to be a very enjoyable one.

The Commencement Exercises closed Wednesday with the rendition of an interesting program by the graduating class in the following order:

Salutatory, Ernest W. Newland; Class History, Nancy Sewell; Class Prophecy, Nancy Begley; Song, "Dear Heart", Jessie Patton; Essay, Margaret Snowden. Recitation Eliza Campbell; Our Grumbler, Mae Taubee; Valedictory Bertha Jameson.

In his address to the graduates and to the people of Jackson, Dr. McCorkle thanked the people of the community for the substantial needs of the Institution, asking the people to assist in building a boys' Dormitory and in this way provide for a large number of boys who would come to Jackson to school if ample boarding facilities should be provided. The benediction by Dr. E. H. Crossfield, President of Transylvania University, closed the exercises of the evening and all departed with a feeling of great satisfaction because of a successful year's work.

The Board of Trustees were present for the annual meeting and made arrangements for extensive repairs and improvements to the Dormitory and College buildings. They expressed themselves as much gratified at the success of the school and the improved condition of the finances.

Commencement Notes

Everybody seemed to be pleased with the entertainments.

This has been the most successful session the school has had for years.

Certificates for regular attendance and high grades were given to a number of students.

Certificates for regular attendance at the night school held at the Dormitory were awarded to some of our local attorneys, engineers and bankers. One lawyer stood 100 in attendance up to the time of suspension a few weeks ago, while another lawyer starting late in the year managed to work overtime and received the wonderful mark of 144. The engineer is still waiting for the announcement of his grade.

CROCKETTSTVILLE

Benjamin McIntosh, of Canoe, was rafting ties at the mouth of Longs Creek, Tuesday for Crawford & Co. He expects to have a thousand ready for running.

Last week while floating ties from the Callahan mill on Longs Creek, old uncle Wiley Helton was taken suddenly with cramping in his stomach and died in 36 hours. He leaves a wife and five children in rather distressing condition. Uncle Wiley was a hard working good citizen and will be missed by his neighbors.

Uncle Arthur McDaniel, of Miller branch, had a fencing and got a good string of plank fence put up. He seems to think the county is too poor to furnish room for roads and water courses and the only rule to adopt is to put them together.

Your correspondent has some questions he desires to ask the citizens of the county. The first is, can a man be a law abiding citizen and be a gambler or a pistol carrier, or a drunkard, or a liquor seller contrary to the laws of the State. Does the laws of the State admit any except law abiding citizens to sit as jurors to try the violators of the law. We suggest that if violators of the law are to set as courts to administer the law against offenders of the law, there will be but few convictions if any. If there is not enough law abiding citizens in the county to administer the penalties of law for the offenses, we have one prayer to offer. God be merciful to Sodam.

CLEMONS

Mrs. Bell Clemons has been suffering very much with heart disease. She went to Jackson Monday for medical treatment. Major Wright and G. W. Sewell are here surveying the K. U. Land Company's land.

Riley Howard is still a cripple from a fall he got from his horse last October and not able to walk only on his crutches.

Eugene Carpenter's leg is still improving.

Jerry Carpenter has got about six acres of new ground ready for planting.

Mrs. Pollyan Clemons died near Lambrie Friday, April 30 and her remains were taken to the Clemons grave yard down on South Quicksand.

Hiram Stacy and Seburn Fugate visited Lambrie last Sunday.

GUAGE

Rev. Samuel McIntosh, wife and little son, was here the first of the week.

Miss Laura Patton and Chas. Patton attended church at the mouth of Meat Scaffold Saturday and Sunday.

Dud Howard Jr., of Hendricks, was here on business the first of the week. Mr. Howard is buying chickens and eggs and makes a trip here once a week.

Miss Ogelee Williams attended church at the mouth of Meat-scaffold Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Greenville Stacy, of near Lambrie, was visiting in this neighborhood Sunday.

Mrs. S. W. Craft was visiting Mrs. T. B. Sturdivent Sunday.

Elijah Craft, better known as Squirrel, is building a line of new fence.

Darice Kinnaird, of Hillie Magoffin county, was here Sunday.

Green Allen, of Jackson, was here on business the first of the week.

Why don't everybody subscribe for the Breathitt County News. Its a nice clean paper and worth many times the price. We ought to have at least 25 subscribers at this office and a like number at Rousseau and Lambrie.

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

WORRY A HABIT.

Worrying is simply a habit. It is also a very foolish habit. It cannot be cured by good resolutions nor by talking about it. The best cure is to keep busy. As "Satan always finds some work for idle hands to do," so the idle mind will always find plenty of time to worry over the cares and perplexities of life. The health side of this hint is, that worry impairs digestion, destroys mental poise, and ruins good temper. And no one can be physically healthy and happy who cultivates the habit of worrying.

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

CASH VALUE OF AIR.

It is possible for a man to live three weeks without food, three days without water, and three minutes without air. This simple statement of a well known fact should make it clear that air, fresh, pure air, is the most important element in the world for the sustaining of life. It is also equally important that in order to perform the best labor, to do the best work in any occupation, human beings must be plentifully supplied with pure air. There are shops, stores, and factories in every city where the conditions as to ventilation and light are bad. It would be economical on the part of the owners to spend money liberally to improve these conditions. The returns on the investment would come in more and better work from the employees. No employer of labor can afford to overlook these important considerations.

Facts For Farmers.

Two crops of clover will remove eighty-three pounds of nitrogen, fifteen pounds of phosphoric acid and eighty-eight pounds of potash.

A ton of timothy alone removes twenty-five pounds of nitrogen, ten and one-half pounds of phosphoric acid and eighteen pounds of potash.

A twenty-five bushel crop of wheat will take off fifty-three pounds of nitrogen, fifteen pounds of phosphoric acid and twenty-three pounds of potash.

It is said that a fifty bushel crop of corn will rob the soil of thirty-two and one-half pounds of nitrogen, thirty-one pounds of phosphoric acid and sixty-five pounds of potash.

A mixed crop of clover and timothy amounting to one and a half tons per acre takes fifty-nine pounds of nitrogen, fourteen pounds of phosphoric acid and forty-six pounds of potash.

Farmer's bulletin No. 40 of the United States department of agriculture says that a mixture of two parts of cornmeal and one part cottonseed meal fed for ten weeks to lambs with pasturage gave a weekly gain of 2.95 pounds per head. The lambs were fed about eight and one-half pounds each per week of the mixture.

The Louisiana experiment station has been studying blind staggers in horses, its cause and cure, but nothing definite could be found. It is their opinion that the cause of the disease is in some way associated with the conditions of the feeding materials, such as grass or cured up corn, brought about by the attacks of mold or fungus.

In one year the bees sent to market a crop of honey worth nearly as much as the barley crop, three times as much as the buckwheat crop, $9,000,000 greater than the rice crop and nearly $9,000,000 greater than the rice crop. All of the rice and buckwheat grown on an aggregate area of 2,126,133 square miles did not reach to the value of the honey by $151,250.

Woman's World

A WOMAN JAILER.

How She Manages the Male Prisoners of Aigle, Switzerland.

There is only one official woman jailer in the world. Her name is Jenny Porchet, and she lives in Switzerland. She is governor and warden of the prison of Aigle, in the Rhone valley. It came about in this way:

Thirty years ago Mme. Porchet married the chief warden of the prison and soon proved to be a helpmeet indeed, for, being a strongly built woman and with proper notions of discipline, she made as good a jailer as her husband and more than once did his work when he was ill or away.

So when he died the authorities asked her to take his place permanently, and she accepted.

All the year round the Aigle prison contains from twelve to twenty male prisoners, sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from three months to three years, and although the woman jailer has no assistants, she has never had any trouble with the prisoners, except, indeed, on one occasion many years ago, when a burly ruffian attacked her.

Mme. Porchet taught him a lesson in good behavior that confined him in the hospital for several weeks.

Strict disciplinarian though she is, the woman jailer has the kindest of hearts and takes great interest in her "guests," as she calls them. Many a prisoner has been set on the straight path again by her wise and kindly advice.

Do Not Feed Crackers.

The habit of giving baby something to chew, etc., between meals is not to be advocated, and crackers should be banished from the nursery. Far from being digestible, they are otherwise, for moisture by which saliva they go into the stomach in solid mass more or less putrefied in effect and give the tiny organs hard work. When baby is old enough to have any such article of food, zwieback should be substituted for crackers.

Unless there is good reason for the change, a child, no matter what age, should be kept on the food on which it thrives. If the feeding varies from what the infant has been accustomed to the method should still be followed. For instance, if there is a child visited the house its usual hours must be known and continued, and if it has been in the habit of getting its heavy meal at a time different from those at the home effort should be made to let the individual regime continue. Otherwise the visitor is likely to become ill.

For example, a child of nine years who has been having her heavy meal at 6 o'clock went recently to visit some relatives who gave it to her in the middle of the day, with bread and milk at night. On coming home she told her mother that she had been hungry all the time at night and was unable to sleep, and she really felt for three days afterward. It was entirely a result of changing hours of feeding.

A Quick Way.

No matter how much a woman may like to sew, she often gets very tired of the work, especially when there are just a few more stitches needed to complete an article. This is true of the busy mother who is always planning for the making of something else before the garment in hand is finished. By such a woman a helpful hint is appreciated.

For instance, when making a corset cover it takes time to cut and turn in the edges of material for a casing through which to run the ribbon necessarily used at the waist line of the article. A piece of strong tape of sufficient width will not have to be turned in, but merely to be sewed along each edge on the sewing machine and used as a casing.

An Ingenious Tuck.

The mother who grows over the destructiveness of her young son on the knees of his stockings should adopt the plan of one ingenious mother who has learned how to make stockings last twice as long.

In buying she selects stockings as long as they can be bought and before wearing runs a flat tuck about the ankle just below the shoe top, where it will not rub in walking.

When the knees of her son's stockings become hopelessly darned the tuck is ripped and the worn part raised so that it slips under the short trousers, while a whole knee takes its place.

Coming to the Point.

After half an hour of silence Hiram suddenly spoke.

"Sally, I've been a-payin' my respects to you for five years come next August, ain't I?"

"Yes, indeed, Hiram," was the tremulous reply. "Why?"

"Well, all I'm a-goin' to say is that I'm darned sick of the installment plan."

"So'm I!" said Sally.

WELL GROOMED WOMEN.

For, After All, Nature Hasn't Done Much For Them.

An Englishwoman writing in the Queen declares that she considers Nature very much overrated in the matter of taste.

"For instance," says the lady, "it is perfectly evident that Nature considers the ideal color for human hair to be that of a potato. Suggest to her the charm of auburn, gold or midnight locks, and she says in effect: 'Too! Give me a good durable shade like potato brown!'"

"So she proceeds to give it to us. 'Straight hair too! Wavy hair is more becoming to ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, yet I suppose not one woman in a thousand has real, naturally wavy hair. Nature likes a shiny nose. Not Venus herself would look well with a shiny nose, yet life's pathway would be illuminated by countless millions of them if we left the matter to Nature."

"When it comes to our attitude or carriage, how many of us would not stoop if we were simply natural? Our arched shoulders probably stooped frightfully. Our feet! Theories to the contrary notwithstanding, I assert that running about without shoes spoils the beauty of one's feet."

"Though nobody thinks less of a small waist than I do, I assert that if I had a waist of more than twenty-five inches I should look dowdy unless it was round. The lucky possessor of an absolutely round waist may have one of twenty-five inches and still appear to measure only eighteen."

"Nothing can be more beautiful than an absolutely lovely, natural woman—a woman with perfect skin and hair, features and figure, a woman for whom Nature has done everything at her very best—but how often do you find her? Once in a million times perhaps."

"As for most of us, we want our hair, even if abundant, to be coaxed into brilliancy and form; we want our possibly natural teeth carefully preserved and kept clean. The same with our skin. We want to be taught to walk and dance and hold ourselves properly, to wear the right stays, the right boots, the right clothes. We want our color intact and our general taste trained; we want to be taught in youth not to talk through our noses or out of our loots, not to laugh too loud or in an unfortunately acquired manner. We want to be taught to take care of our nails—the nail left to Nature does Nature but scant justice. In short, we require civilization where our appearances are concerned if we are to be fit to look at."

BEAUTY HINTS.

Many nervous women find that they can sleep better if they take a bran bath just before retiring.

Every time you pick up something from the floor let the bending come absolutely from the hips and not the knees. This exercise will make the waist supple.

One cannot have a pretty hand if the fingers are broad at the tips. Pressing down on the ends of the fingers from the first joint to the tip will, if done many times a day, remedy this defect.

Any exercise that works muscles and chords about the stomach promotes digestion, and for this reason specialists at foreign baths strongly recommend that no person shall sit immediately after eating.

The middle aged figure is to be feared. You can avoid it by diet and exercise, which will keep your limbs firm and solid and which will do away with the fatty rolls on hips and abdomen. Every day order from your grocer a pound and a half of round steak chopped fine. Heat this without butter in a frying pan. This amount will do for three meals. Shun butter, potatoes, cream, sugar and fats. A little care and you will be slender again.

Three Salads.

A delicious salad served at a luncheon recently came in on individual plates. On each plate there was a white lettuce leaf, and heaped in the middle of it shredded celery dressed with mayonnaise and sprinkled on the top with broken English walnut meats. Around the mound there were strips of Spanish red peppers.

For a hasty fruit salad when fresh fruit is not at hand open a can of peaches, drain it and arrange the halves of the fruit on lettuce leaves, sprinkle them with shredded almonds and a few cherries if they are at hand, and dress them with mayonnaise. If nuts and cherries are not at hand the peaches are excellent alone.

A woman with a long salad repertory boils English walnut meats with a slice of onion and a blade of mace for fifteen minutes, then drains and chills them and serves on lettuce leaves with sections of hard boiled eggs and mayonnaise. As a garnish she uses strips of olives.

To Save the Slippers.

For the very fine slipper, whose softness needs little more than the old time stuffing of crumpled tissue paper, there is a homemade spreader that will save the price of a shoe tree.

Take a pair of long, covered steel, those that come for boning waist seams. Cover them with puffed ribbon or silk and stick one end of each into a tight ball of cotton, also covered with puffed ribbon or silk. This ball should be big enough to fill the vamp of the slipper and should be securely sewed to the steel. Finally it is to be placed in the slipper's toe, after which the other end of the steel is sprung into the heel.

The Original Micawber.

The conquered gladiator cast his eyes imploringly at the gallery. "What are you looking for?" asked the victor, tickling him playfully in the ribs with his spear.

"I'm just waiting for something to turn up," answered the other, with a wan smile.

History neglects to tell us which way the thumbs of the spectators pointed.—Cleveland Leader.

FEEDING THE STALLION.

A well known breeder of thoroughbreds says of feeding stallions:

"Much space in papers and books has been devoted to treatises on how to feed stallions, and some weird and wonderful fancies have darkened the pages of good while paper concerning this subject. Some very wise ideas have also gained wide publicity by the same means, but they may all be reduced to a very few simple maxims. Stallions are horses and require horse food; also with horses, as with men, one's food is another's poison, and the idea of prescribing so many oats, corn and so much hay and some of the 'trimmings' (so fond to the heart of the office theorist) as the only way to feed any stallion and the way to feed all stallions is so patently ridiculous as not to require extended comment. But there is one thing which most stallions do lack and which is of the greatest value, grass."

"To eat green grass, growing, is of the very greatest value to all horses and to none more than the sires. Many owners are satisfied on this subject if the grass is cut and fed to the horse in the stall; but, while so fed it is not entirely valueless, it misses many of the most important objects to be attained. The eating of the grass, getting the head down, having the processes of mastication retarded by the wandering about in search of the choicest morsels and the operation of nipping them off is part of nature's plan for making the larger quantities of food a horse will eat accommodate itself to the relatively small receptacle that constitutes the animal's stomach. Some owners go to the other extreme and reserve nature's process by putting the feed box and hayrack as high up as the horse can possibly eat from them, the idea being presumably to stretch his neck in the other direction as much as may be."

"Many other things enter into the proper feeding of stallions, and the horse is always a better judge than the man, and each horse must be treated according to his own individual idiosyncrasies. If you have ever 'grazed' a stallion you cannot have failed to remark how his judgment will differ from yours. You will notice a particularly inviting plot of luxuriant herbage and lead the horse there to only to find him tugging at the halter strap in an effort to wander on to another spot where he will graze greedily upon what to your eye is much less edible growth."

"And how often you find your horse burying his teeth in the pure black earth, eating the dirt with a greediness and evident relish that are highly significant and suggestive."

"Many horses are as notional about their meals as are their owners, and lack of water lessens milk flow. Don't let the cows shift for themselves in the matter of water. They must have all they want of such a temperature as will induce them to drink enough to supply their needs. Many a cow 'falls down' in her milk production because she is starving for water, the water being either difficult of access or too cold to be palatable."

A WELL-BRED JACK.

Besides this, the buyer should assure himself that the animal is a proved breeder. When you have secured these points in an animal you can be pretty sure of getting your money's worth. "As in all lines, there are tricks which every man who starts out to buy a jack should know in order to protect himself from being made the object of untrustworthy dealers. The difficulty is to be a very easy matter to spin the average jack buyer, as nine out of ten who are out to purchase know nothing about the requirements of a good animal, and invariably they are taken advantage of. There are a good many breeders in the business who are practicing the policy of selling direct to the buyer instead of letting their productions go to the large cities and there being retailed to buyers from different parts of the country. This plan of buying direct from the breeder has every advantage, and I would recommend it strongly. There are a good many things regarding the purchase of a jack which cannot be expounded on paper, and therefore the buyer who would get the most worth of his money should use some discrimination in the choice of those whom he patronizes."

"We have a fine lot of jacks for sale. They are all well-bred and have been bred by a professional breeder. They are all well-bred and have been bred by a professional breeder. They are all well-bred and have been bred by a professional breeder."

"We have a fine lot of jacks for sale. They are all well-bred and have been bred by a professional breeder. They are all well-bred and have been bred by a professional breeder. They are all well-bred and have been bred by a professional breeder."

THE SHEPHERD.

Have a hospital pen where the sheep that give evidence of being sick can be isolated and treated. Many a contagious disease can in this way be kept from spreading in a flock.

Woven Wire Best For Fence. Fences for sheep should not be less than three feet high, with post every sixteen feet, and preferably of woven wire with a single barbed wire at the top. Barbed wire is apt to cause the loss of wool, because sheep when in full fleece are frequently crowded through, especially if the wires are not stretched tightly.

Facts About Sheep. From records kept at the Wisconsin experiment station of 240 ewes covering a period of five years the following conclusions were drawn:

Shropshire ewes appear to be more prolific than any other breed. Ewes six years old produce the largest percentage of increase, while young ewes have greater percentage of single lambs. The percentage of ram lambs increases and the percentage of ewe lambs decreases as the age of the ewe advances. A ram's at his best at two or three years of age. The age of the ram does not have any effect on the sex of the offspring. Ram lambs average about one-half pound heavier at birth than ewe lambs. The larger the ewe the greater the percentage of increase, while the ram has no effect on the lambs in this respect.

Feeding Sheep. It is always advisable in feeding sheep not to feed too much corn. Clover, hay and corn in equal parts by weight should be given during the fattening period. Except for fattening purposes it is better not to feed sheep on corn at all. Corn is said to contain about 60 per cent of starch and 6 per cent of oil, both being very digestible. Oil makes fat, and the starch produces heat and fat. On account of its heat producing power it is inadvisable to feed corn. Because of there not being any great quantity of protein in corn it is necessary to feed something else with it, either clover or alfalfa.

Sowing Vegetable Seeds. If the soil has been properly watered after the sowing of vegetable seeds little attention in this direction will be needed before the proper time for transplanting. This will depend largely upon the character of the weather. In bright, sunny weather, when free ventilation is required, the flats may need an application of water almost daily. Excessive watering, however, should be guarded against, as it tends to produce tender, spindling plants.

How to Measure an Acre. Tie a rope around end of a rope, the distance being just sixty-six feet between them. Tie a piece of colored cloth exactly in the middle of this. One acre of ground will be four times the length and two and a half times the width, or the equal of sixteen rods one way and ten rods the other, making the full 48,400 square rods. Keep the rope taut so it will not stretch. A rod is 16 2/3 feet. An acre is 43,560 square feet.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia. Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating full, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quick take Kodol—the better, eat it, want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin, "pepsin" tablets, physics, of all kinds, are of much less value than Kodol, the digestive alim.

Change of Firm.

Notice is hereby given that after May 1st, 1909, the members of the firm of Noble & Noble will be Henry B. Noble and Clarence Noble, instead of Georgia Noble and Elijah Noble who were the old members. The new members assuming all of the legal and lawful indebtedness of the old firm.

The Puritans and Christmas.

Because Christmas is really a survival of the heathen festival called by the Celts "Yule" and is by many not regarded as the actual birth date of Christ the Puritans of the seventeenth century not only did not observe the day, but made laws against its celebration. In 1644 parliament of that date actually passed an act ordering that Dec. 25 should be kept as a solemn fast and that all people should spend the day lamenting the sins they had committed in past years when they kept the day as a feast. There were fearful rows. Soldiers were sent to houses where the inhabitants were suspected of the heinous offense of eating mince pies and ordered to search for such delicacies and carry them away. Pitched battles were fought in the streets between Christians and anti-Christians.—Chicago News.

Everybody is likely to have kidney and bladder trouble. In fact nearly everybody has some trouble of this kind. That is the reason why you so often have pains in the back and groin, scalding sensation, urinary disorders, etc.—that's your kidneys. The best thing to do is to get some of Dr. Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills right away. Take them for a few days or a week or so and you will feel all right. In this way, too, you will ward off dangerous and possible serious ailments. They are perfectly harmless, and are not only antiseptic, but allay pain quickly by their healing properties. Send your name to E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, for a free trial box. They are sold here by Jackson Drug Co.

Little four-year-old Allen had been given a "Noah's ark" on his birthday. One day he put the animals all in, shut the door and sat silent. "What are you waiting for, Allen?" "Who is that handsome man over there?" Papa Figaro makes one guest ask another at a dinner party. "That is Louis XIV."

"How absurd! What do you mean?" "Well, his name is Louis, and he is always invited when—without him—there would be thirteen at table."

If you expect to get the original Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve, you must be sure that it is De Witt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve. It is good for cuts, burns, bruises, and is especially good for piles. Refuse substitutes. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

Offhand Courtship. On the shores of the Moray firth—the spot need not be more specifically localized—there is a flourishing little village of some 1,400 inhabitants, consisting chiefly of fisher folk. The young man and maiden do not court in the orthodox fashion. Their method is much more prosaic, and what is characteristic of one case may generally be accepted as characteristic of them all. There is, of course, an occasional instance of genuine old-fashioned courtship, but that is a rather rare exception.

"Mother," said one young man on his return from a successful herring fishing, "I'm going to get married."

"Well, Jenna, I think ye shud jang an' ask yer cousin Marack." And as he had no particular preference he went straight away to ask her.

"Will ye tak me, Marack?" was the brusque and businesslike query which he put to the young woman in the presence of her sister Bella.

But Mary had promised her hand to another the same evening. "I canna tak ye, Jenna," was her reply, and then, turning to her sister, "Tak ye, Bella!" And the sister took him. —Chambers' Journal.
